RUNNERS EVIDENTLY FEARED
WORST HAD COME, FLED

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 3.—The rum fleet off the Jersey coast fled during the night. It is believed they were frightened by the shot fired by coast guard cutters across the bows of a small smuggling craft to halt it. Previously, officials explained, the smuggling craft signaled with a whistle stop. Yesterday, however, the cutter Seneca mounting four inch guns, opened on the smuggler with a heavier gun than the other cutters have and hoomed this gun. Apparently this frightened the fleet which evidently believed it was being fired upon and fled.

Prince K, a Gift Horse, Has Chance For Kentucky Derby

PRINCE K

LOUISVILLE, May 3.—Prince K, a gift horse and once rated a hopeless cripple, has a good chance of winning America's most prized turf feature—the 1923 Kentucky Derby.

Prince K once graced the elite stable of George D. Widener, millionaire sportsman of Philadelphia.

But Prince K had very bad ankles and appeared a derelict on the thoroughbred market.

Louis Marshall, Kentucky turfman, and good friend of Widener, happened to visit the Widener farm.

Widener asked Marshall what he would give for the well-bred Prince K. Marshall laughed.

"Not a dime," he told Widener. "I wouldn't have him for a gift."

"Tell you what you do," Widener said. "Take the colt and give me $500 out of the first purse he wins—if he ever wins a race."

Thus again is exemplified the uncertainty of the thoroughbred breeding industry, for Prince K last year—his first on the turf—won 10 races and $14,661, more than all Widener's horses won the past two years!

Marshall punch-fired and blistered Prince K's ankles and the colt is going sound. He is working so well for the Derby many believe he has a royal chance to win that historic event.

EXPECT GOOD
SERVICE TONIGHT

Evangelist Will Preach on "Buried Dead or Alive"—Service Early
Tomorrow Night

"The Parable of the Sower" was the theme of the sermon at the Christian church revival last night. Evangelist Joel Lee Jones has reserved the "Buried Dead or Alive" sermon for tonight when a larger congregation will be present. A number of persons came from other churches after the prayer service.

In explaining the parable of the sower, the evangelist said that God planted the gospel in the world and that the church performed the same service for the community. Neither the sower nor the seed is responsible for the crop, the value or quality of which can only be determined at the harvest.

The service will begin at 7:15 o'clock Friday night and close at 8 o'clock so that members of the congregation who so desire may see "Green Stockings," the Senior play which will be presented at the high school auditorium Friday night. As the revival closes Sunday night, work will be stressed during the remaining services. Several additions to the church have already been made and present indications are the revival will be a success.

PARIS, May 3.—French and Belgian governments today announced they had rejected the new German reparations proposal. They held them to be so inadequate as to offer not even a basis for negotiation because of the smallness of the sum offered and because of lack of guarantees for payment.

The body of Bob Williams, Hazlett man who was drowned near the mouth of Indian Creek on Powell's River Sunday night has not been found, according to recent reports. Efforts to find the body were begun soon after the occurrence and have continued incessantly since. The waters have been dragged thoroughly for long distances but without result.

SHOOTS HUSBAND AND OTHER WOMAN

Hulen Magistrate Will Die, Girl Seriously Hurt—Infidelity Reason For Trouble

Squire Carter Howard, 48, was fatally shot, and Miss Mary Johnson, 22, was seriously wounded by Mrs. Carter Howard at Rocky Branch Coal company office on Pickett's Creek yesterday afternoon. Howard's infidelity and improper relations with Miss Johnson were given as Mrs. Howard's reasons for the shooting.

The couple were taken to the Wilson hospital in Pineville where it was said today Howard could not live and Miss Johnson had a fair chance for recovery. The case had been pending in that section of the county for eight years and was well-known.

An informant at the commissary at Hulen said that no prosecution would probably be made of Mrs. Howard, as Howard had deserted her for Miss Johnson, and left Mrs. Howard with the sole support of their eight children. The oldest of the eight children is about twenty, the youngest, one month old.

LOCAL TAXI DRIVERS
SEEK INJUNCTION

Would Restrain City From Charging
$75 License Fee—Say Rate Is Exorbitant

Bill praying for injunction has been filed against the city of Middlesboro by local taxi operators to restrain the city from charging the seventy-five dollar license fee. A temporary restraining order has been issued which prohibits collection of the license fee until the matter has been settled in court, according to John Howard, attorney, who filed the suit.

The petition alleges that the rate is exorbitant in that drivers of large busses are charged only fifty dollars per year for license. It alleges that the city shows unjust discrimination and charges that it is an attempt to put the taxi men out of business by fixing a fee too large for them to pay and conduct a profitable business. It states that the fee has been increased from twenty-five dollars to seventy-five dollars during the past two years.

Rufus Fry, representing all the taxi drivers of Middlesboro, is the petitioner. The case which has been filed on the equity docket will probably be brought before Judge J. G. Forrester in about ten days. If it does not come up for hearing then it will be tried when court convenes at Pineville in May.

The attorney and the taxi men are optimistic over the prospects for ultimately winning the suit and say they are prepared to fight the case through the court of appeals, if necessary.

STATE WOMAN'S CLUB WOULD
LIST KENTUCKY ART TREASURES

Listing the art assets of Kentucky is one of the most important and interesting works now going on in the State, according to Mrs. H. V. McClesney, chairman of the department of Fine Arts of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs, who appeals for help to every one throughout the State who is interested in art.

The list, Mrs. McClesney says, should include public buildings of pure architecture, statues, memorials, fountains, mural paintings, good stained glass and parks. In connection with lists send photographs suitable for making cuts for print.

Mrs. McClesney hopes that anyone knowing of valuable old paintings anywhere in the State will please report them to her.

She has made an appeal to the local Woman's Club to help in securing information in regard to old art treasures in and about Middlesboro and Mrs. D. G. Hink, president of the local club, asks that any one who has such a treasure, please let her know so they may be properly listed.

FLEM CAMPBELL
FOUND GUILTY

Given $100 Fine and Thirty Days for Selling Liquor to Marcus
Ginsburg

A $100 fine and jail sentence of 30 days was the penalty fixed in the case of the Commonwealth against Flem Campbell which was tried for the second time by a jury in police court this morning. Defendant was charged with having sold Marcus Ginsburg, age 17, one and one-half gallons of whiskey in January.

The prosecuting witness and the defendant gave practically the same testimony as in the trial yesterday. The former stated he had exchanged a suit of clothes for the whiskey and eleven dollars in cash. He added that the liquor had the effect of making him "see six when there was only one." Defendant denied the liquor transaction.

Attorney A. D. DeBusk, representing the Commonwealth, urged the jury to impose the maximum punishment of a $300 fine and sixty days in jail in case they should find the defendant guilty. "It is the duty of all of us to see that if he receives a sixty day sentence that he doesn't get out in fifteen," he added.

DEAN FORD TELLS OF L. M. U. GROWTH

Largest Summer School in History
Expected—1922-23 Has Been
Big Year

The enrollment at Lincoln Memorial University has been larger than ever before, said Dean T. B. Ford of the University yesterday, summing up the year's work. Commencement exercises will be held at L. M. U. next week, but a good summer school is expected.

The increased enrollment this year is marked, the dean said, because it was necessary to discontinue the engineering department this year and because no free scholarships could be given during the fall term and few during the year. The dean stressed, as another evidence of growth, a reduction in the school's indebtedness of $40,000 while the endowment had increased until $700,000 is now available.

The spirit of co-operation in the University is more pronounced than ever before, too, the dean showed. This spirit in universal between faculty and office, and between both of these bodies and the students. This is all the more marked since the faculty and office have been greatly taxed by the reduction of workers in every department.

Prospects for the summer school are very bright, Dean Ford said, and a larger enrollment than ever before is expected. The work covers the Opportunity school, the high school and the college. The outlook for the commercial department is also promising.

During the past year the school has been more widely advertised than any other institution in the nation, Dean Ford said. Articles in seventy periodicals and in a host of local papers have presented the cause to the reading public of fifteen to twenty million. The natural result is that L. M. U. won many new friends and that the school's influence in the near future promises to be national.

CITY LICENSE PAYMENTS ARE COMING IN SLOWLY

Payments for city license are coming in slowly, according to Frank Kearns, city collector. Payments for automobile licenses as well as business and professional licenses were due and payable at the city office May 1.

City license plates for automobiles will be issued this year but these have not arrived here yet. The use of these will enable the city to make a closer check on those who have not paid. Mr. Kearns says there are 500 or more automobiles in Middlesboro and that only a very few owners have obtained their city licenses.

STATE TO BEGIN
EAST END STREET
WORK NEXT WEEK

Joe S. Boggs and Other Highway Officials Here Yesterday—Investigate All State Roads in Bell County

AGREE IMPROVEMENTS BADLY NEEDED ON AVENUE HERE

That improvements on the East End streets of Middlesboro should be made immediately was the consensus of opinion of the state highway officials who were here yesterday and went over the streets. These included Joe S. Boggs, State Highway Commissioner, of Frankfort, H. H. Asher, of Pineville, member of the State Highway Commission, and Steve Watkins, state highway engineer. They were accompanied, during their visit here, by Senator J. F. Bosworth.

As soon as an engineer can be obtained, he will be put on the road from here to Cumberland Gap, Mr. Boggs promised. He explained that the road work had been so pushed this spring that it was hard to get an engineer, but he promised one by next week, at the latest.

These road officials went over all of the roads in the county in which the state is interested, except the Red Bird road which is now being surveyed. They finished up their investigations today. They drove over the road from here to Cumberland Gap, the road from here to the mines, the road from here to Pineville, then to Barbourville, and then to Corbin. This last stretch of road is being worked on diligently and is well on the way to completion.

Commissioner J. S. Boggs had lunch while here yesterday at the hotel Cumberland, with Dr. R. B. Douglas, who is an old friend and schoolmate of his.

A THOUGHT

There is no remembrance of former things; neither shall there be any remembrance of things that are to come with those that shall come after.—Eccles. 1:11.

And when he is out of sight quickly also is he out of mind.—Thomas Kempis.

MIDDLESBORO IS GROWING RAPIDLY

Recent gains in postal receipts, increasing number of residence houses and a general good business in Middlesboro indicate that the city is growing. These figures not only show that it is growing but also reveal the fact that it is growing more rapidly than ever before except, of course, during its early days when it was a frontier mining camp.

The growth that we are experiencing planning on the part of business men, those who are willing to risk their capital in erecting dwellings or to launch a new business in which the chances for success or more or less success is bringing about this growth which reacts to the benefit of the entire town.

THE IRISH ARMISTICE

The centuries-old war of Ireland against England, which through a final display of unity achieved a victory that was immediately threatened by a renewal of division, seems now in a fair way to be brought to a final determination. Had the fratricidal struggle between the free state majority and the republican minority continued it would have done more harm and caused more anguish to Ireland than all the age-old tyrannies of a hostile government and the oppression of absentee landlords. But the chasers after the will-o'-the-wisp of a republic have run into the bog of defeat, out of which they can be extricated successfully only by the assistance of those with whom they have been engaged in a life-and-death struggle.

Defeat is a hard but frequently a most wise and profitable teacher. Its lessons are costly, but in many, many instances they are worth the price. The republican visionaries set out to do a not only Great Britain, but also the majority of their brothers who, in a general election, had ratified the free state treaty. Through the leniency of the free state authorities the republicans need such a show of force that further leniency became a crime—on the one side, the executives, to Ireland has a and even to the republicans—

Do you know
Baseball?
by Billy Evans

Questions
ONE—What are the rights of the base runner to advance on an infield fly?
TWO—Does a base runner after crossing first base, and then making a break for second, forfeit his right to return to first without liability to be put out?
THREE—Must a base runner after crossing first turn while in foul territory or is it also permissible in fair territory?
FOUR—When two runners are standing on the same base to which runner is the base entitled?
FIVE—If a base runner starts to run the bases in reverse order to confuse the opposition, how may he be retired?

Answers

ONE—A base runner can now advance on an infield fly, just as on any other fly ball that is caught or muffed.

TWO—A base runner after crossing first base, and making an attempt to go to second, immediately forfeits his right to return to first without liability to be put out.

THREE—He can make such a turn on either fair or foul territory, provided he makes no attempt to go to second.

FOUR—The original occupant is at ways entitled to the base, unless forced to vacate.

FIVE—A base runner who runs in reverse order can be retired by being touched with the ball or having the ball held on the base to which he was legally entitled.

Berton Braley's Daily Poem

OF COURSE HE DOESN'T

By Berton Braley

"Well, Santa Claus must be quite elderly now."

The little boy's uncle averred.
A frown overclouded the little boy's brow.

His blue eyes grew just a bit blurred
In vigorous protest he shook his small head.

The faith of his heart to uphold
And with deep conviction he boyishly said,

"Aw, Santa Claus doesn't get old!"
No sage ever spoke any weightier word.

More freighted with glorious truth,
The myths and the legends that childhood has heard

Are dowered with undying youth:
So Peter Pan doesn't grow up with the years.

But ever is blithesome and bold,
And Alice in Wonderland ageless appears.

And Santa Claus doesn't get old!
Little Red Riding Hood still is a child.

And Top o' My Thumb still a boy,
The fairies and goblins that roam through the wild

Keep always their youth and their joy:
While tales are repeated or lullabies sung

Sweet Goldilocks' hair will be gold,
Prince Charming will never more cease to be young

And Santa will never get old!

LETTER FROM MRS. MARY ALDEN PRESCOTT TO HER SON, JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT

MY DEAR BOY:

I cannot understand from your letter just how Leslie came to burn herself. You say something about a paper being lighted from a cigarette. I do hope that Leslie is not smoking too much. Of course I think that smoking at all is too much, but dear Priscilla Bradford told me that Leslie had that modern habit, so naturally I can only think that the accident of which you speak as an excuse for your wife not writing me has come in some way from that deplorable habit.

I wish, my son, you had told me that you were going to marry in such haste. Had I known this I would have tried during the last year to have saved enough money out of my meager income to have painted the house this spring. As it is, I presume the old homestead will have to go neglected and forlorn. It would not have been so had your father lived.

Convey my kindest regards and commiserate Leslie upon her accident: and believe me always,

YOUR LOVING MOTHER
Letter From Leslie Prescott to Her Friend, Beatrice Grimshaw

I am sending you, dear Bee, the enclosed letter from Jack's mother to him. I have copied it verbatim. Evidently the dear old lady does not like to see a woman smoke an devil you believe, now that Jack and I are married, it seems to me that even he has changed his opinion somewhat on the subject.

He used to say that a pretty girl smoking a cigarette gracefully was to him the most beautiful thing in the world, but the other night after reading his mother's letter, which he found lying unopened beside his ash tray, he said, "Are you sure that your beautiful teeth will not be discolored if you smoke much?"

I answered, "How long have you been smoking, Jack?"

"About ten years."

"How many cigarettes do you smoke a day?"

"About twenty or thirty."

"Well, my dear," I said truthfully,

"I think your beautiful teeth were the things that first attracted me."

"And do they still attract you Leslie darling?" said Jack, coming over close to me and smiling as he bent to kiss me.

I find that when my husband's lips touch mine I feel as though all the world is on the outside and for us there is only the present with its living joy to think about. The art of loving then seems to me the only art worth learning.

There I am getting too sentimental. But then, dear Bee, although I am just married you know I have already learned something very important. Very necessary to a successful wife. She must hug to her heart all the sentiment that comes into it and disengage from her mind all the disagreeable thoughts that might find lodgment there.

Lovingly,
LESLIE.

A SUMMER NIGHT
By George D. Bond

Only the locusts cry in the black mid-night,
Only the wind stirs in the long grass
No light, no other life, no other sound—
Only the vast black prairie and the dim limitless space where the world revolves.
And in the dark the prairie he sawake
and restless,
Impatient of man's control hating his cities and his fences and himself Waiting for him to join the mammoth and the calaps
knowing his time will come, and waiting, waiting, waiting,
Tiding her time to rise and cover him up;
Dreaming a dream of cities silent, deserted,
And of the prairie grass creeping slowly over the ruins;
Dreaming a dream of a tyrant overcome, and of many, many bones
beneath the thick wildflowers;
Dreaming a dream of many years of silence, broken only by the song of the wind and the cry of the locust.

"You Need Not Have Wrinkles!" Is Rubinsten's Message To Women

LENORE ULRICH'S beauty is the haunting beauty of the oriental. It has the exotic mysterious quality seldom encountered and never forgotten. You want always to look at her just once more to see if she is really as beautiful as you thought—and she is always more so!

Wrinkles are a serious matter in a woman's life, apart from personal vanity. To the business woman whose alertness of mind is often mistakenly judged by the face, wrinkles are a decided drawback. To the actress whose career is built on beauty they are almost fatal. But they are cruellest of all to the average married woman whose husband fell in love with her while she possessed the charm of youthfulness. Wrinkles are deterioration. They come from different and combined causes. There are large loose wrinkles and tight wrinkles; there are wrinkles that seem to quiver the skin, together in tight little bunches and there are light wrinkles that seem to be traced on the surface of the skin. The same basic principles of treatment apply to all. First cleanse the skin with cream. Then press in a good stimulant that will stir the tiny cells to life, then massage in a rich stimulating cream. Excellent as I know massage to be, I often hesitate to advise it because so many women have the idea that the harder they rub the better they are doing it. Just the reverse is the case. Take the cream in the palm of your hand and with sustained and gentle movements slowly press it in. Avoid pulling or stretching any part of the skin. When you come to your eyes take a little cream warmed by your hand on your finger tips and with the lightest possible touch apply it following the eye. During the day cleanse with cream and apply a little tonic, milder than the stimulant. Be sure to protect your skin from the weather, from heat and cold, wind and sun, by applying a foundation cream and powder base because exposure to the weather dries the skin and wrinkles follow. In massaging, work across the line and in a rotary movement and always stroke upward instead of downward. Correct yourself of the objectionable habit of squinting or grimacing as you talk, and make a conscious effort to relax your features until it becomes natural for you to do so. Of course, I do not mean to imply that a woman advanced in years can always look 18. But I do say there should never be any unlovely signs of age and wrinkles are certainly that.

Ford Weekly Purchase Plan

FOR many years it has been Henry Ford's personal ambition to make the Ford the universal family car—to put it within the reach of the millions of the people who have never been privileged to enjoy the benefits of motor car ownership.

During the past fifteen years over 7,500,000 Ford cars have been placed in the hands of retail customers—more than a million and a half of them within the past twelve months—and yet there are still millions of families who are hopefully looking forward to the day when they can own a Ford.

And now the way is open.

Under the terms of this plan you can select your Ford Car, set aside a small amount each week and you will be surprised how soon you will own it. In the meantime your money will be safely deposited to your credit in one of the local banks where it will draw interest.

Think it over. Five dollars will start an account. The whole family can participate in it—father, mother, brothers and sisters each doing a little.

Why not start today? Stop in and talk it over with your local Ford dealer. He will be glad to fully explain the details of the plan and help you get started toward the ownership of a Ford car.

RED BIRD COMMENCEMENT IS MUCH ENJOYED BY VISITORS

PINEVILLE, May 3.—The first commencement of the Red Bird Settlement School was celebrated Saturday, Sunday with final programs on Tuesday. It was a commencement worth remembering for all who shared in any way in it. There were twelve young people, eight girls and four boys, who received diplomas from the eighth grade. And each member of the class would have done credit to any school.

The commencement began Friday night in Pineville when the Kiwanis Ladies night was given over to a Red Bird program. The dining room of the Continental Hotel was strung with Red Birds, and each guest's favor was a replica of one. Among the speakers of the evening were Professor J. J. DeWall, head of the Red Bird Settlement School, who told something of its work; E. A. Hanger, editor of the Evangelical Publication at Cleveland, T. Russ Hill of Middlesboro, Miss Emeline Welch, teacher at Red Bird; and according to Mr. DeWall the three most eloquent speeches that he ever heard were made by R. M. Watt, who presented to the school on the behalf of the Western Electric Company, a complete radio outfit; Ed. Samuels who handed him three checks each for one hundred dollars from donors who preferred to keep their names from being announced; and E. H. Mould, representative of the Fordson Company in Pineville, a Fordson Tractor to the school. Since the road to the school is one continuous fording of Straight Creek, length wise, Professor DeWall said that he did not know how he would get the tractor there, but that he would take it if he had to do it in pieces.

A lovely musical program was given in connection with the program. P. T. Atkins, editor of the Sun, was chairman of the evening.

Saturday morning a party of about twenty left Pineville in a drizzling rain, going to Heyburn by train, where horse and mules were in waiting. thence to Red Bird. The train continued without stopping until the ridge of the Kentucky mountains was reached and there the party met a downpour. The spirit of the crowd was the only thing left undampened. Everyone was drenched but that trouble was eventually remedied before grate fires at the Red Bird.

Ride to Red Bird in Rain
Saturday evening T. R. Hill of Middlesboro, delivered the commencement address, taking as his subject, "Service." The Rev. Howard J. Brazelton, pastor of the Pineville Christian church presented the diplomas to the graduates who were Fannie Asher, Louanna Knuckles, Myra Onkst, Bertha Bayley, Sophia Slusher, Will P. Slusher, Richard Asher, Mollie Lawson, William Slusher, Delore Jones and Martha Slusher.

Sunday morning the baccalaureate address was made by Mr. Hanger, of Cleveland.

Immediately following dinner Sunday the visiting party started on its return trip to Pineville. The weather was very much more agreeable but the waters of Straight Creek were very much deeper than on Saturday and many places reached the sides of the horses.

School Serves 15 Miles Radius

When one is not traveling in Straight Creek, which is by far the greater part of the way, one is going over the steep Kentucky ridge, and just below this is the Red Bird School. It is the only school in the community, the nearest competitor being the Pine Mountain Settlement School which is twenty-two miles away on the other side of an impassable mountain. The Red Bird school draws its students from a radius of 15 miles, and had an enrollment of 235 in January which gradually diminishes to 100 by April 1. The roads in the winter months are impassable in most instances. A ten month school is conducted, seven months free tuition under the management of the county school board or education, and three months when a tuition of $2 monthly is charged. An extension school is conducted ten miles further into the mountains on what is known as Jack's Creek and there a new school house will be built before fall. It will be a two room structure, 20 by 60 feet.

In this secluded spot the only machinery that has ever been seen or heard is a saw mill, and the generator which furnishes electricity for the school. The Fordson tractor will be something entirely new and will be used for milling purposes. The radio will bring the lectures, concerts and news of the whole world to the feet of the people of this section, many of whom have never been away from home as far as Pineville.

Some idea of what this will mean to the people of the Red Bird can be grasped only when you realize that from a class of 67 only 17 has ever seen a train, and from this same class only 5 have ever talked over a telephone and 9 had seen one. The statistics were made by Miss Charlotte Arnold one of the teachers.

Establishment of Red Bird

The school was established by a gift of $10,000 by the Evangelical Church. Pineville then donated $6,000 for the construction of a dormitory. Four thousand more is needed for the completion of the dormitory and the building of the school at Jack's Creek. The dormitory, which is three stories high has only been completed enough for the use of the two lower floors. With the completion of the third floor 120 students may be accommodated. Dormitory students pay ten dollars a month tuition and give two hours of work daily.

Besides the dormitory there is a two story school house, which is also used for a church, and two cottages for Mr. and Mrs. DeWall and one for the use of the teachers. Plumbing has been installed and water will be furnished by two immense springs on the top of the mountains just back of the dormitory when money can be secured to complete the building of a tank. It has been partially constructed.

The buildings themselves which are painted all white, are a revelation to that section, and the work that is being done there can not be estimated.

Among those who made the trip to the Red Bird are Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Hill of Middlesboro; Mr. Foster of the Louisville-Courier; Mr. and Mrs. Pat Canton, Mrs. Greta Wetherbee, Miss Myra Johnson, Miss Isabel Dods, Miss Florence Ragland Samuels, R. E. Samuels, H. T. Alper, P. T. Atkins, T. R. Ware, George Manning, N. W. Peterson, L. C. Henderson, W. F. Jones, Harry Isaacs, Charlie Johnson, Rev. Howard J. Brazelton, Sam Ramsey, all of Pineville, and E. A. Hanger of Cleveland, Ohio.

PORTABLE COURT IS TERROR OF 'SHINESS

THE MISSOURI 'MOVABLE MOONSHINE COURT' IN ACTION

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 3.—When the mountain wouldn't come to Mohammed, Mohammed went to the mountain.

And, in this twentieth century, it bootleggers and moonshiners won't come to court, make the court go to them, say officials of Clay county, Mo. Liberty, county seat of Clay county, is the center of a populous district and joining Kansas City. The spread of bootlegging and secret making of liquor has caused trouble in the last several months.

So a "gipsy" court has been organized and the county now has portable judiciary.

The "gipsy" court uses a half dozen speedy motor car, and swoops down upon suspects, conducts a search, holds a trial and speeds away to jail with convicted offenders—all within little more time than it takes to tell it.

Judge Goes Along

In the caravan is Sheriff Joseph Elgin, Undersheriff John Clark, 25 deputies, Judge M. L. Swanner and prosecuting Attorney Raymond Cummins.

The sheriff and deputies go ahead. When they enter a house and find a still or contraband liquor, they call in the judge and court is convened on the spot.

Evidence does not have time to be lost or spirited away. Justice is meted out without red tape.

Most of the prisoners, taken by the traveling aggregation, plead guilty. Recent convictions include a woman who is serving time in jail for selling intoxicants in her home.

Community Advertising Subject of Address To Kiwanis Club Today

"Community Advertising" was the subject of the interesting and instructive address which W. F. Jones of Jellico made before the local Kiwanis Club at their luncheon today noon. Mr. Jones is editor of the Jellico Carry-On and field secretary of the Dixie Highway, and through these two mediums has had some experience in community advertising.

"Cities are like individuals," Mr. Jones said, "they have personality and you either do or do not like them. If you want your city to be progressive and if you want people to like it, see that it makes a good impression and that its best points are impressed upon visitors here."

"Florida towns, more than any other understand the value of advertising and they make specific appropriations for advertising, as they do for schools and streets. You know and I know the opportunities and advantages in Middlesboro, but the public won't know unless you tell them. If you spend money on advertising Middlesboro even until it hurts, you will see it come back to you in dollars and cents."

Mr. Jones went on to mention, as advertising mediums, signs along the road, pamphlets, slogans on letter heads and envelopes, and magazines and local papers. The newspaper, he stressed, should represent the spirit of the town and be one of the best mediums.

"They talk about the Switzerland of America," declared the speaker. "Surely there is no place more worthy to be called that than this Appalachian section. The scenery, the climate, the water and a thousand other natural advantages make this one of the most delightful places to spend the summer in the world. Let us get the towns in this section together in the common cause of community advertising and put on a really worthwhile campaign."

The meeting today was in charge of R. L. Kincaid, managing editor of the Daily News. A good attendance was recorded. Hugh Allen drew the attendance prize.

Among important matters to be brought up was the announcement that Dr. Hubert Work, secretary of the interior with his wife, Dr. and Mrs. Matthews, and J. Wesley Hill, will be here Saturday night and Sunday staying at the Hotel Cumberland, while attending commencement at L. M. U. The club voted to give a dinner Saturday night at the Cumberland in honor of these distinguished visitors, to which members of the club and their wives and some other guests are invited. A committee appointed to make arrangements for this dinner are C. A. Blackburn, P. R. Whalin and R. L. Maddox.

Inter-City Meet at Pineville
Dean T. B. Ford of L. M. U. was present at the meeting and issued a cordial invitation to all Middlesboro citizens to attend L. M. U. commencement exercises, in particular, Sunday night when Dr. Hubert Work will be the chief speaker.

Announcement was made of the inter-city meeting to be held in Pineville tomorrow night and to which a number of local Kiwanians plan to go. W. W. Duffield, district governor, will be in charge of the meeting and all who can are urged to attend.

An important announcement was made by L. D. Hill, chairman of the convention finance committee, who said the matter of financing the club had been taken care of by assessing each member of the club thirty-five dollars, payable by a check dated August 15. He promised that in this way, no one would be bothered with further solicitations on this matter.

Among the visitors to the club were Dr. E. R. Fulkerson, missionary, who will speak at the First M. E. Church tonight, and Dr. R. E. Douglas, new pastor of the First Presbyterian church who arrived yesterday from Macon, Ga., his former pastorate.
